REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

In compliance with the requirements of the law the annual report of the School Board for the year ending March 1, 1891, is herewith submitted :

The whole number of schools maintained during the year has been 10, and the number of weeks taught in each school 24, as against 23 for the year preceding. As heretofore the schools have been so arranged as to afford an equal length of schooling to all the pupils in the town. Two hundred and ten different scholars have been enrolled during the year, the average daily attendance being one hundred and fifty-eight.

In reviewing the work accomplished by the schools it may be said with truth that at no time since the advent of the new law have they been so uniformly successful and so free from disturbing elements as in the year just passed, and taking into consideration the amount of money placed at our disposal, we believe they will compare favorably with those of other towns whose school revenue does not exceed our own.

The law creating the town systems of public schools having been in force five years perhaps a brief summary of what has been accomplished under it in this town may not be out of place in this report. Since the time when the present law went into operation 44 different teachers have been employed, and with one or two exceptions their work has been faithfully and for the most part satisfactorily performed. Meanwhile each year has witnessed a steady growth in the good character and efficiency of our schools. We readily call to mind how, under the old law, the rich and well-to-do districts invariably monopolized the services of the best instructors, while other parts of the town, less favored in this particular, were forced to content themselves with teachers of little experience and be satisfied with briefer terms of school. The inception of the new law wrought a radical change in this matter since under it all schools throughout the town have been of the same length, and in selecting and assigning teachers to their respective positions the peculiar requirements of each school have been constantly kept in view. Consequently, whatever growth has been attained has been uniform, and the pupils in no part of the town have enjoyed advantages denied to others.

The schools during the past five years have averaged in length a fraction over 23 weeks for each year. Comparing this period with the last five years of the old law we find the average for that time to have been something less than 19 weeks. It is gratifying to note in this connection that this increase of more than a month in schooling under the present law has been attained without subjecting the town to additional taxation.

The cost of maintaining the school buildings in a proper condition under the old law oftentimes proved so burdensome as to deter districts from making only such repairs as seemed most urgently needed, and it must be confessed that in their desire to economize they sometimes allowed valuable property to drift into decay. Perhaps this is not to be wondered at when we recall that such repairs as required a special tax when assessed over a small district would sensibly increase the burden of taxation, while the same amount levied over the entire town, as under the present law, would scarcely be felt.

It is possible that the large expense incurred in the repairs made during the past five years may incline some to the belief that the present law in its workings is not so economical as the old district system, but it should be borne in mind that the neglect which made these repairs necessary was clearly chargeable to the old order of things. For the coming year the expense for repairs need not be large. The East Candia and Hill school buildings should be painted and minor repairs made at Tower Hill.

While not venturing to ask an appropriation for the purpose, the attention of the district is called to the fact that in some of our school houses the seats and desks are becoming shattered and rickety from long use. Rather than make expensive repairs on these, it would seem better policy to put in seats and desks of newer design, as has been done in some of the towns about us.

Under the operation of the free text book law the much desired uniformity in the matter of text books used in our schools has been attained. As a result of this valuable time has been saved and the teachers have been freed from the annoyance of a multiplicity of classes. Before the books were given out a copy of the rules governing their use was pasted on the inside cover of each, and the pupils were warned that any injury to them must be made good. From time to time the books have been inspected and, with but few exceptions, they appear to have been carefully used.

The average wages paid teachers per month the past year has been $24, slightly exceeding the amount paid the year before. Should the district desire us to retain for another year the best of our teachers and secure others of equal merit, an appropriation not less in amount than that received the past year will be needed.

In concluding this report it affords us much pleasure to call attention to the very cordial relations which have from the first existed between the parents and citizens generally and those charged with the care and supervision of the schools. Without a doubt this fact has contributed in no small degree to the success and welfare of our schools in the past, and for the future we may hope for a greater interest manifested by all that the cause of education may not suffer in this town.
